INSTRUCTIONS

1. Wipe down the votive with a dry Hydra Art Sponge.
2. Antique each coral section using different colors.
  - a. Coral #1: Paint the coral with 1 coat of Sour Apple. Dampen a Hydra Art Sponge, then wipe away excess glaze, allowing the color to remain in the crevices - this technique is known as antiquing. Then, paint the coral section with 2 coats of Slime Time.
  - b. Coral #2: Antique the coral using Pink-A-Boo. Then, paint the coral section with 2 coats of Melon-Choly.
  - c. Coral #3: Antique the coral using Lavendear. Then, paint the coral section with 2 coats of Orkid.
  - d. Coral #4: Antique the coral using Melon-Choly. Then, paint the coral section with 2 coats of Pink-A-Boo.
3. Paint each clam shell with 2-3 coats of Vanilla Dip.
4. Using a detail or liner brush, add Brown Cow and Gray Hare accent lines to each clam shell.
5. Paint the remaining background coral areas with the same colors listed above, ensuring no two neighboring sections are the same color.
6. Paint the inner walls of the votives to match the outer coral section colors.
7. In the inside center of the votive, use a #2 pencil to sketch a clownfish.
8. Use the following colors to paint the clownfish: Gray Hare, Tuxedo, Orange Ya Happy, Cotton Tail, and Jack O' Lantern. See the sample image for reference.
9. Paint the background around the clown fish with 1-2 coats of Purple Haze. Paint sea anemone tentacles using 2-3 coats of Pinkie Swear. Accent the end of each tentacle with Lavendear.
10. Clear glaze and fire to cone 06. Enjoy!
